

Pricing for broadband via cable providers is outrageous, I think that an examination of the cost and the benefit provided is in order. Currently paying the pricing more than $35 per month is out of range with the power provided and the ability of the laity to afford the services. The best measure to cause widespread adoption is to reduce costs.